I would like to register my objection to EDF not using a AFD to save fish stocks in the Severn Estuary. Since the condition of using an AFD was key to the HPC project being given permission to go ahead it is paramount that the AFD is used. With the increased awareness in recent years of the value of our fish stocks in the Severn Estuary there have been a number of protected zones registered to save the precious habitats for life in the estuary. This method of water cooling would devastate life and render meaningless the environmental protection measures that have been made in recent times.

Yours

Ian Horsfield
