Dear Sir,

I am horrified that EDF are seeking permission to do away with the Acoustic Fish Deterrent at Hinkley Point C given the Severn Estuary's newly designated status as a Marine Protection Area. Accordingly, I want a chance to make representations at a fully public inquiry.

I do not believe there are any feasible fish diversion measures which could meet Habitat Regs.

Moreover, the killing of European Protected Species (EPS) such as that caused by the sucking in of marine life as water is abstracted is forbidden under the Conservation of Habitats and Species law when an alternative exists. An alternative does exist. It is the building of a cooling system on the Hinkley Point site using air cooling or evaporative cooling towers.

I look forward to hearing from you about the timing of the public inquiry.

Yours faithfully,

Richard Atkinson
