

What might the coastal defence refurbishment look like?

The refurbished sea defences are designed to last for 50 years. Some maintenance work will be required in future to look after the refurbished defences.

Steps and access points will be upgraded to meet current safety standards.

Groynes will be refurbished. The concrete groyne design will be agreed in the final design stage and may include materials such as rock.

Seawall foundations will be strengthened.

New pedestrian railings will be installed.

The seawall finish will be agreed in the final design stage.
